

DESIGN TEMPLATES

A low-cost professional book cover design solution provided by Dugan Design Group. High-quality covers with contemporary design and typography give your new book a competitive edge. Now available exclusively through www.believerspress.com.

COLLECTIONS 3 & 4

dugandes!gngroup

This is a headline for the back cover

WHEN, IN THE COURSE OF HUMAN EVENTS, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any form of government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness.

Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are

- more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable
- than to right themselves by abolishing the forms
- when a long train of abuses and usurpations, to which they are accustomed

AUTHOR'S NAME we hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

USE THIS OR CHOOSE YOUR
OWN STOCK IMAGE

The Book Title Here

Author

The Book
Title Here

*This Cover
Ideal for a Family Title*

Author Name Here

Back Cover Headline Could Go Right Here

WHEN, IN THE COURSE OF HUMAN EVENTS, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.

Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are

- more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable
- than to right themselves by abolishing the forms
- when a long train of abuses and usurpations

AUTHOR'S NAME we hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.

TITLE GOES HERE

USE THIS OR CHOOSE YOUR OWN STOCK IMAGE

AUTHOR

Great Women's Book Cover

TITLE
GOES
HERE

AUTHOR NAME HERE

THIS IS A HEADLINE FOR THE BACK COVER

WHEN, IN THE COURSE OF HUMAN EVENTS, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any form of government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness.

"Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

—THOMAS JEFFERSON

AUTHOR'S NAME we hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men.

Your Title Can Go Right Here

Author

Your Title
Can Go
Right Here

Your Subtitle

Would Go

Right Here

Author Name

BACK COVER HEADLINE COULD GO HERE

WHEN, IN THE COURSE OF HUMAN EVENTS, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any form of government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness.

- more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable
- than to right themselves by abolishing the forms
- when a long train of abuses and usurpations,
- pursuing invariably the same object evinces a design

AUTHOR'S NAME we hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men.

THE TITLE COULD GO HERE

AUTHOR

THE TITLE COULD GO Here

A STRONG SUBTITLE COULD BE PLACED RIGHT HERE

a subtitle of one, two or three lines goes here

USE THIS OR CHOOSE YOUR
OWN STOCK IMAGE

JOHN & MARY

AUTHOR
AUTHOR NAME

Headline for the Back Cover of the Book

WHEN, IN THE COURSE OF HUMAN EVENTS, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.

Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are

- more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable
- than to right themselves by abolishing the forms
- when a long train of abuses and usurpations, to which they are accustomed

AUTHOR'S NAME we hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Tales of a missionary

author name here

Tales of a missionary

this cover might work for mission memoirs

USE THIS OR CHOOSE YOUR OWN STOCK IMAGE

author name here

HEADLINE FOR THE BACK

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation. We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights.

- ❁ more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable
- ❁ than to right themselves by abolishing the forms
- ❁ when a long train of abuses and usurpations, to which they are accustomed

AUTHOR NAME we hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

PLACE TITLE OF THE BOOK HERE AUTHOR

PLACE TITLE OF THE BOOK HERE

A SUBTITLE OR LEAD-IN LINE THAT COULD BE LONGER OR SHORTER

MARY AUTHOR

HEADLINE FOR THE BACK COVER GOES HERE

WHEN, IN THE COURSE OF HUMAN EVENTS, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any form of government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it.

Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are

- more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable
- than to right themselves by abolishing the forms
 - when a long train of abuses and usurpations
- pursuing invariably the same object evinces a design

AUTHOR'S NAME we hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers.

PLACE TITLE OF THE BOOK HERE

AUTHOR

PLACE TITLE OF THE BOOK HERE

PLACE A SUBTITLE HERE

MARY AUTHOR

Christian Living
ISBN 978-0-4461-2345-6
5 1299
9 780446 123457 U.S. $12.99

Headline for the Back Cover Goes Here

WHEN, IN THE COURSE OF HUMAN EVENTS, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any form of government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it.

Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are

- * more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable
- * than to right themselves by abolishing the forms
- * when a long train of abuses and usurpations
- * pursuing invariably the same object evinces a design

Author's Name we hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers.

place title of the book here

Author

Susan Author

PLACE A SUBTITLE OR LEAD-IN HERE

place title of the book here

